

Acton Action

OktoberFast Gets Rained Out, Then Resurrected; Final Races On This Weekend for Sunfish Crowd

Grill Out Coming Back Too

The Weeks Ahead

Saturday, October 12

Haul Out! Come for the fun, stay for the work. Oh, and the lunch All are gluten free.

Sunday, October 13

OktoberFast – the proper way to end your summer – on a boat, sailing.

Saturday, November 2

You have your invitation. Let's help Rose plan by sending it in right away.

Saturday, November 2

Let's also help Laura Beebe with next year's committee planning. Pay dues at banquet and get a free head noogie from Don Fecher.

OktoberFast! Redux!

The forecast last week was for a steady downpour. And it did rain. A lot. But as usual, the forecast is just a good guess. Witnesses, who actually went to the lake last Sunday, reported a two hour window of rain free wind, and even a little sunshine. Still not the best day for a picnic, but you just never know.

After a little politicking and polling amongst HSA's Executive Committee, the season ending event known as OktoberFast has been, Lazarus-like, resurrected. This Sunday, we will try it again with racing to start at 1:30. A grill out featuring German-ish style cuisine will be offered in the form of bratwurst, mettwurst, potato salad wurst, and other wurst like things. So if you ate all of the food you intended to bring last week, now you know what it really tastes like and you can get something different.

Rescue and committee boat will be available, just not the ones you are used to seeing. According to one eager racer, the forecast looks good.

Haul Out Still Scheduled for Saturday

Don't forget that on Saturday morning this week, the boats will be hauled out and serviced. A good crew is needed to help Harbormaster Don Fecher get them ready for winter storage. JoAnn's free range chili and self esteem are your rewards.